

Diamond:

SMI has recently adapted its CVD technology to produce diamond films. Shown at right is the glow from the microwave plasma used in the growth of diamond films. Below is a montage of optical microscope images of diamond films at different intervals of film deposition showing initial nucleation, film growth and contiguous coverage; lastly an XRD spectra, showing diamond peaks, is presented.

